

UNIVERSIDAD
DE GRANADA

Resumen

A qualitative, descriptive and phenomenological study carried out by semi-structured individual interviews on a sample of Migrants (study in progress) with maximum variation in age, sex, time since arrival and administrative status. Our objective is to analyse the factors that influence access to health services from the point of view of the migrant population living in Tetouan.